

Youth¹ Dialogue 2024

“Click to Progress”² : Youth for a Smarter Sri Lanka

Concept Background:

Compared to the countries in South Asia, Sri Lanka has one of the highest net migrations per its population. The constitution of the country guarantees the right of every Sri Lankan citizen to leave or enter the country in accordance with its laws. Despite migration has happened throughout the post-independence period, literature on migration patterns identify several distinct waves which has made migration a necessity for many of the Sri Lankans who have moved out and residing temporarily or settled in their new destinations, mainly in India, Europe, Americas, and Australia. With recent financial crisis, the number of international migrants from Sri Lanka has been increasing, and the number of Overseas Sri Lankans (OSLs) may have by now far exceeded the commonly cited 2.5-3 million figure.

The prime objective of setting up a dedicated office for engaging with these OSLs (Diaspora)³, is to ensure connectivity, engagement and fostering development. Accordingly, the Office for Overseas Sri Lankan Affairs (OOSLA) is mandated on one hand to improve and facilitate access to services offered by the State and its stakeholders for the OSLs, and in providing required information and guidance as a single stop. On the other, when OSLs wish to be partners in the socio-economic development and empowering the local communities by sharing their knowledge and financial capital, to facilitate such partnerships. Hence, it essentially looks for creating a win-win situation for both OSLs and the people living in Sri Lanka. OOSLA plays the role of a neutral, yet impactful facilitator's role in promoting five thematic areas, namely: Consular services, trade & investment, home visit tourism (exploring nostalgic roots), philanthropic work, knowledge & skills sharing. These engagements can dovetail into open dialogue, better understanding of the multi-faceted nature of Sri Lanka, mutual respect, and reconciliation among communities.

It is observed that many of the young decedents (Y to Z generation) of the OSLs have assimilated themselves fairly well in the host countries through their education, leadership skills, grasp on cutting edge technologies, and by intense social-political engagements. Some have risen as influential individuals with proximity to power /decision making centers of the host countries, renowned entrepreneurs, scientists, and professionals in various fields, social media influencers and idols, enabling them to contribute to the growth, development, and social wellbeing of their host countries. Although some of these youths have been engaging

The UN definition of Youth is between age of 15-35 and in the international migrant stock it comprises 11% of total international migrants. <https://www.migrationdataportal.org/themes/child-and-young-migrants>, accessed 15.06.2024.

² “Click to Progress youth digital pathway for sustainable development”, is the theme for UN International Youth Day 2024.

In the context of OOSLA, the terminology used is Overseas Sri Lankans (OSLs) for reasons to avoid any ethnic or political sensitivity related to the term Diaspora. Hence, without prejudice, this Note uses the term OSLs to recognize the population who have migrated from Sri Lanka and either living temporarily or have settled in host countries or transit destinations, maintaining collective memory, connections, kinships, inheritance and/or consciousness towards Sri Lanka.

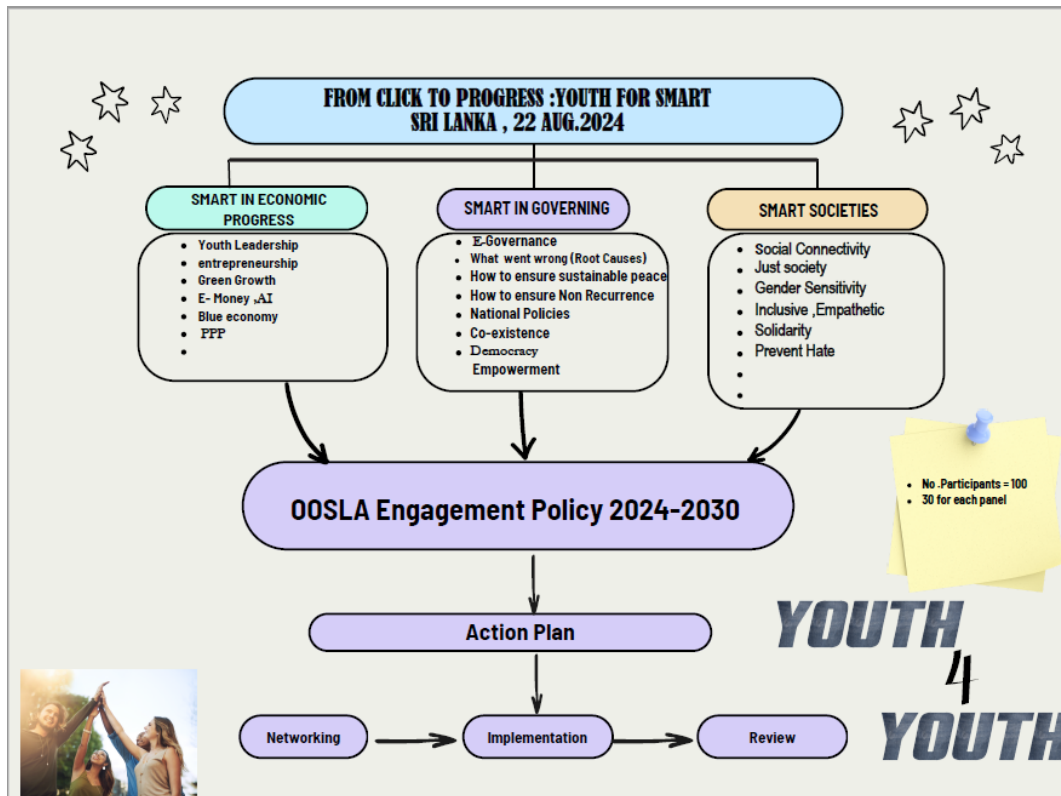

with Sri Lanka as volunteers, the potential is largely unexplored, and it can partly be attributed to lack of trusted mechanisms and incentives to boost regular engagements.

As a result, many young OSLs are yet to fully experience the true facets of Sri Lankan socio-cultural fabric. It is vital to have credible channels to exchange views on the narratives on all sides about the country in general, and on the ethno-religious coexistence in particular. The heavy reliance on social media as the first source of information can lead to rapid dissemination of misinformation. Despite the intense efforts made by the migrant youth to naturalize in their host societies, they too may experience challenges. Hence, it is important that avenues kept open for the OSL youth to self-explore Sri Lanka and to be equal stakeholders, in building peace, economic growth and coexistence in Sri Lanka utilizing their capabilities.

Objectives of the Youth Dialogue:

- 1. Smart in Economic Progress: Encourage the participation and contribution of overseas Sri Lankan youth in supporting the development efforts of their country of heritage/origin, especially by applying digital solutions in areas such as investments, knowledge sharing, volunteerism and philanthropic work, economic empowerment of local youth through leadership /mentorship initiatives;
- 2. Smart in Governing: Facilitate an open exchange of views and understanding on root causes for current governance deficiencies, diversity, and its inherent challenges in Sri Lankan context. Ways to ameliorate the associated negative experiences to ensure non-recurrence and sharing views, actions to ensure transparency, through digital pathways that can support building a smart government;
- 3. Smart Societies: Strengthen the collaboration and partnership between, the youth within the 23 Government Stakeholders of OOSLA, the civil society organizations working on Youth, young academics in universities & higher education institutions, and other private sector youth actors, the UN country teams working on youth, and OSL youth in advancing a sustainable dialogue for peace, coexistence, empathy and solidarity that leads to a reconciled and smartly connected society.
